Rooted

Rooted brings together artworks that reflect the origins of the materials used in their making and examines the link between nature and artificiality. By engaging in an open dialogue with their materials through collecting, assembling, juxtaposing, examining and transforming organic and artificial matter, artists in the exhibition create works that highlight the role of observation in how we relate to natural phenomena. The exhibition includes works by Carrie Minikel, Tim Musso, Sedi Pak, Esther Traugot, Hiromi Takizawa and Elijah Wooldridge.
