SMALL IS BEAUTIFUL

Grounded in the power of smallness, the works on view in Small is Beautiful explore how small-scale artworks and objects can be as striking and impactful as large, epic-scale works. This rumination on the power of the seemingly minuscule, addressed by each exhibiting artist through a myriad of themes and styles, aims to create a broader conversation around complex and universal themes including the human condition, the ecology, and Western history.

Exhibiting artists: Hilary Baker, Julia Couzens, Nancy Evans, Lawrence Gipe, Gegam Kacherian, Virginia Katz, Karla Klarin, Constance Mallinson, Siobhan McClure, Alain Rogier, Greg Rose, Coleen Sterritt, Marie Thibeault, Robert Walker, Joan Weinzettle, and Kay Whitney.
