Irvine Finance Commissioner

Dear Fellow Residents,

Leadership is crucial as Irvine embarks on a new phase of growth and transformation, confronting challenges in public safety, affordable housing, and traffic. Our city needs a leader who listens to the voices of residents, approaches issues with a fresh perspective, and remains steadfast in integrity, responsibility, and transparency.

With dual doctorate degrees in Engineering and Law (PhD and JD), over twenty years of high-tech business experience, five years serving on the city's Investment Advisory Committee—including two years as unanimously elected chair—and two years as president of Asian American Advocacy Alliance, I bring both passion and expertise to serve our community and lead Irvine through its upcoming challenges.

For over twenty years, my wife and I have proudly called Irvine home, engaging deeply in the community through service on nonprofit boards and city commissions. Our four children, graduates of Irvine's exceptional public schools, have continued their education at Harvard and UC Berkeley.

As Mayor, I will prioritize the needs of residents, resist special interests, and focus on balanced growth, enhanced public safety and education, robust economy that creates jobs, and more transparent and responsive City Council.

Together we will make Irvine safer, greener, and more affordable!
